“Dr. Huetli” is a comedy character performance.

Dr. Huetli from Switzerland holds a ‘Scientific` talk about “Risk assessment, health and safety in wearing high heels”. On her flip chart you will see her results in graph form, in sketches or as formula, explained in strong Suisse accent. Not only has she found out that “the higher the heel the shorter the girl and the shorter the skirt”, she also shows the audience the most dangerous of all - ‘the kamikaze stiletto`. While she explains her risk- and danger impact factors table – the audience will find out, that for poor Dr. Huetli high heels were not working in her search for a ‘possible mating partner`.

Technical requirements:

No special requirements apart from enough space for a flip chart on stage.
